TO WAGE CRUSADE AGAINST WINEROOMS

Methodist Ministers Will Ask Excise Commissioner Seibert to Revoke Licenses.

MAY APPEAL TO GOVERNOR.

The Reverend H. C. Leonard Declares Law Is Violated-Says He Found Young Boys and Girls Maudlin.

Personal investigation of conditions prevailing in St. Louis winercoms afforded plenty of material for a paper on the city's social evils by the Reverend H. C. Leonard, which he read at the Methodist ministers' meeting yesterday morning.

As a result, the question will be officialy brought to the attention of Excise Comissioner Selbert by the ministers, and, failing in their efforts to have him act in he premises, it will be made a State issue and Governor Dockery will be appealed to. Besides Mr. Leonard, the Reverends C. R. Carlos, G. W. Shepherd, M. L. Curl and Fred W. Simpson constitute the com mittee that will have charge of prosecuting the work.

THE REVERENED H. C. LEONARD, whose investigation of winercom conditions will be acted upon by Methodis Ministers.

In the paper O'Donnell's place on Olive street was described as the worst of all. Here Mr. Leonard said he found young G. Warner, vice president of the Missouri been elected president, treasurer and director of the Arkansas Central, with

Wright has also been elected general freight and passenger agent of the Ar-kansas and Louisiana Railway (Iron Mountain system), with headquarters at street was described as the worst of all. Here Mr. Leonard said he found young boys and girls not more than 16 years old maudiin with beer and hilariously engaged in the most obscene dances. There were boys and girls from the office, store, school, shop and a scattering of older men.

"The sight," said he, "was disgusting. Animalism let loose, yea, worse; animans are innocent of such things. For a bacchanalism feast O'Donnell could give pointers to old Nero himself. All this can be remedied. There is no law protecting indecency. No man has a right to be a social leper, nor has any man a right to damn the innocent by one means or another.

LICENSES SHOULD BE REVOKED.

"You ask the cause of all this and why this is allowed. No one can say that there are laws protecting such business and that those in authority have no right to interfere. There is no law for closing the saloons from 1 to 7 Sunday mornings, but it seems that this is done. Soliciting ought to be stopped. But there is a law deciaring that when the premises or building of a dramshop are used for purposes of prostitution the license should be revoked, and the Excise Commissioner has the authority to revoke these licenses.

"The indecency of these places is enough for action. They are the shame of St. Louis. All this is known. The police know it, the Excise Commissioner knows it, all men know it, and no effort is made to conceal the facts."

It was stated at the meeting yesterday that the raid made on O'Donnell's place Sunday night by the police was a direct result of the investigation of Mr. Leonard, whose work had been brought to the attention of the Assistant Prosecuting Attention of the Assistant Prosecut with the Missouri Pacific in the office of Mr. Warner four years, coming to St. Louis from Columbus, O., where he held the position of secretary to the president and general manager of the Hocking Valley.

As president of the Arkansas Central,
Mr. Wright occupies a unique position in the railroad world, as this road, while a Missouri Pacific property, is operated by its own organization.

He therefore is the chief executive of a line extending all of forty-six miles between Fort Smith and Paris, Ark., succeeding C. E. Ratellif, resigned, to engage in other business.

REMAINS OF MINISTER WILL BE DISINTERRED.

Crypt in Centenary Will Contain Ashes of the Reverend Thomas

After being consigned to a grave in Wesleyan Cemetery for nearly seventy years the remains of the Reverend Thomas Drummond, the first Southern Methodist pastor to die in St Louis, will be disinterred and placed in a small crpyt in the wall of the parish house of Centenary

M. E. Church, South. This action was brought about by a esolution introduced by the Reverend Doctor Cunningham, the oldest living minister of the church, at the meeting of the Southern Methodist ministers yesterday.

Doctors Cunningham and Drummond were intimate friends during the life-time of Doctor Drummond, and since his death Doctor Cunningham has at regular intervals visited the grave to see that it was cared for.

In the thirties Doctor Drummond had charge of the only two Southern Methodist churches in St. Louis. One, a church for the white folks, was located on the site now occupied by the Boatmen's Bank; the other was a church for negroes.

Bank; the other was a church for negrees.

In 1835, when the cholera raged in this city, the pastor fell a victim to the plague soon after visiting a member of his flock, who was ill of the disease. He lived only a few days.

It is the intention of the ministers to place the ashes of Doctor Drummond in a small metallic arn, which will be placed in the final resting-place in the walls of Centenary parish-house.

Lie women were angry at O'Donnell yesterday, some of them declaring that they had been assured that his pull was sufficient to keep his place from being raided.

It is said that several attempts had been made before by the police to get to the dance hall while evidence was obtainable, but the keepers were "tipped off" and the place was orderly and quiet when they arrived. Sunday night's raid, however, was carried out under special orders from Chief Kiely, and the place is said to have been in full blast when six policomen, led by a Sergeant, entered the front and rear doors, and, with drawn pistols, prevented any escapes.
